Get Paid Faster

Court Connect Web Payments provides an opportunity to accept payments quickly and easily on your court Web site. The two most recent courts to experience the benefits are Cambridge and Mason Municipal Courts. In both instances, the courts selected Infintech as their third-party payment processor. Payment results were experienced immediately. Within the first three weeks, Cambridge's total volume was $1,359, and Mason's total volume was $6,386.

New Flip-Phone Concept

A new flip-phone concept was recently presented at the CEATEC Japan 2010 Exhibition. Fujitsu's futuristic phone consists of two-panes. The flip phone consists of two touch screens that function as one display. Sound familiar? It is similar to a dual-monitor setup that many people might use with their PCs. Imagine the convenience of seeing e-mail on one pane and viewing a browser on the other pane!

User Group 23: Building Beyond Tomorrow

During our time together at Deer Creek State Lodge, there was lots of networking, relaxing, and enjoyment in the evening hours and great education sessions during the day. Several educational opportunities were provided, including going green, discussing solutions for defendants to make payments to multiple cases in a single step, familiarizing ourselves with the enhancements in Civil Release 1.4.2.2, and learning how to maximize the use of Quick Docket Status Entry. Many of the presentations can be accessed through the CMI Forum.

The 2010 Innovation Award was presented to Lima Municipal Court during the opening session of the user group. A big thank you and congratulations goes to Ben Diepenbrock, Clerk of Courts, Sue Barnett, Matt Schmunk, and Brenda Benedict! Lima was instrumental in testing and providing feedback on the rule-driven cost table. This was a huge undertaking for Lima Municipal as the first Beta site. They were very committed to helping ensure a successful product for our other court clients. The court also worked very closely with CMI on testing and implementing the latest Civil application release and testing Case Number validation for DocuScan. Whenever they are asked to test an item, the response is very quick and thorough, and it is duly appreciated.
